

Master Carpenter's Trade
written by Clark Ferguson

You are Holy
I'm unworthy
And the chasm between us is wide
But you saved me; You showed mercy and allowed me to stand at Your side

You built me a bridge
With just two boards and three nails
A bridge of hope and of love that never fails
By the master carpenter's trade
My life and soul are saved
For you took two boards and three nails and built me a bridge.

Your majesty,
Your glory
You knew I'd never reach on my own
So you helped me in my frailty
And now Lord, I can come near Your throne

You built me a bridge
With just two boards and three nails
A bridge of hope and of love that never fails
By the master carpenter's trade
My life and soul are saved
and built me a bridge.
